Company seeking factory location

A factory for the assembly of windows may be built in the Minden area in the near future if plans of a local businessman come to fruition. Tom Gough, of G. Glass Products in Minden, appeared before the township council last Wednesday to explain his plans and seek the council's assistance in finding a location for the plant.

Gough, along with his partner, Merv Gibson, has been operating a retail glass and window outlet on Bobcaygeon Road north in Minden for just over a year. According to the owner, the company has enjoyed increasing sales since establishing here and want to expand their operation to include more fabrication of windows.

Gough told the council the company is seeking to build a plant, some 4000 to 5000 square feet in size, which would employ 15 to begin. The company spokesman said in time the plant could employ up to 30 individuals.

The council endorsed the proposal of the company in principle and offered to help find a suitable place for the plant to locate.

The owner said he had considered expansion of his present site but felt that area should be saved for offices. He indicated there was enough room there for a plant of that size. "We wouldn't object if we had to locate outside the immediate community," Gough told the council, "as long as we could be close to the present location." At the moment the company is producing windows at its present location, as well as using the facility for a retail outlet.

Gough said the company wanted to be ready to begin constructing the plant in March of next year. He indicated this was one reason for approaching the council now.

The members of the council suggested a number of locations north of the community, including a site next to the garbage dump and one adjacent to a municipally owned gravel pit on the Bobcaygeon Road. It was pointed out that both locations offer access by tractor trailer trucks and were relatively close to the village. Gough and Reeve Lloyd Walker agreed to examine the two sites later in the week.

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard commented there would probably be a preference for the plant to locate outside the community, but he said there probably wouldn't be any complaints about the establishment of the plant from the municipal council.

The resolution endorsing the project, in principle, was passed by all members of the council.

Wayne Fawcett found his job took him up in the world last week as he helped attach lights to a number of Christmas trees in Minden. This tree was one of the live ones in front of the CIBC, however the municipality has located a number of freshly cut evergreens and located them at various sites in the community.

New format starts today

Readers will note that this week's edition of THE TIMES is a different size. The newspaper has been reduced in its overall length (top to bottom) by two inches.

The change in format has been necessitated by our printers, Muskoka Web of Bracebridge, who have decided to purchase a different width of paper for their presses. As a result, all newspapers printed at their facility will be undergoing the same change.

The change in format is in line with what is happening in other sectors of the newspaper industry, and in particular, is in reaction to the increasing cost of newsprint. We believe the new size will be just as attractive to our readers and make THE TIMES more "readable".

As always, we welcome your comments.

Noise charges dismissed by Judge Inrig

The two charges laid against the Rockcliffe Hotel for allowing excessive noise to be made during the summer of 1979 have been dismissed. The charges were quashed Tuesday at a special sitting of the Provincial Court presided over by Judge George Inrig.

The charges were dismissed when the lawyer for the municipality, Fraser Rogers, attempted to introduce a certified copy of the by-law under which the infraction was supposed to have taken place. Lawyer for the defendant, Ted Gardiner of Lindsay, objected to the move. He told the court, that according to the Canada Evidence Act, section 28, the prosecution must serve notice of the intention to introduce the by-law at least seven days prior to the day of the hearing.

Gardiner claimed he had not received the notification from the prosecution lawyer. Rogers admitted that he had not given Gardiner the notification. At this point Judge Inrig dismissed the two charges against the proprietors of the hotel.

Introduction of the by-law as necessary to prove to the court that a local law actually existed which referred to the charge against the defendant. Without the by-law being introduced, the judge had no basis on which to weigh the evidence being presented. Consequently Judge Inrig dismissed the two charges.

The case was based on two charges laid in June 1979 when, acting on written complaints received from three residents, the municipality charged the hotel with allowing excessive noise to be made after 12 midnight. The matter was delayed on a number of occasions and was dismissed once before because the wrong forms had been used in laying the charges.

The case was to have been held September 1, but a further delay at that time moved the hearing ahead to this past Tuesday, two years and five months after the original charges were laid.

The defense requested that the court consider assigning

Changes approved for recreation committee

A reorganization of the municipality's Recreation Committee has been approved by the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council. The changes, which will increase the membership of the body and lengthen the term the members serve, was approved at the November 25 meeting.

The change was based on a report by Councillor Ed Pergolas, who had recently attended a recreation conference in Toronto.

The councillor suggested that the term of the committee members be expanded to four years. Noting that the present appointment is only for one year, Pergolas told the council the time constraint left little room for long range planning. "New members joining the committee must spend the first few months learning the ropes," the councillor commented. He said that by the time an individual is comfortable in his post, the term is expiring.

Pergolas noted that the present members of the committee will technically be stepping down at the end of the year. He noted that there is little interest in planning for next year's budget, because the members are uncertain whether they'll be on the committee in 1982.

In most cases, however, a member of the Recreation Committee who indicates to the council that he is willing to serve more than a single year will be re-appointed.

The councillor suggested that the terms of the committee members be staggered so that the entire group does not step down at one time. He said this would lend some continuity to the planning which the committee could undertake.

Cash taken from Gooderham store

Police are investigating the theft of cash from a store in Gooderham.

Approximately $150 and a number of cheques were removed from the till at Barr's General Store. The theft occurred while the attendant, Henry Hornsey, was outside the premises. The incident was reported to Minden OPP Saturday November 28, at 4 p.m.

Constable Michael Maher is investigating the theft.

Found property

Local police stations often become the depository for items which have been found. Such is the case here and the Minden detachment of the OPP has a number of items in storage. They include the usual misplaced articles such as a Peugeot 10 speed bicycle, booster cables, a camera and case, a wrist watch and a number of sets of keys. The items are held for three months after which time the finder can claim the item or, if it is not claimed, it can be sold or disposed of.

In collecting missing items, the police have also acquired a number of unusual objects. In connection with two of these items the police would very much appreciate speaking to the owners.

One is a marijuana "roach clip", a device used for holding a marijuana cigarette. According to Constable Gary Chapman, "Anyone" who wishes to identify the clip and answer a few questions as to what they were doing with it may claim this item at the police station."

The second item, in which the police have taken an increased interest, is a marble headstone and base. The authorities are looking for anyone who might be able to identify the inscription on the face of the stone and offer an explanation of why the stone was placed on a mock grave in front of the Gooderham post office.

questioned whether the four year term would be too long. He wondered if someone who was appointed might feel trapped by the length of the term or whether it might prove difficult to remove a member who is not doing his share of the work or who has lost interest. Pergolas noted that these individuals can resign from the committee, pointing out that it often happens now.

Pergolas said that, according to others attending the conference, the four year term was quite common.

The second change which the councillor recommended was the expansion of the committee to include one senior high school student and one senior citizen. These people would serve for a one year term.

The councillor said the two would ensure that opinions representative of the two ends of the age spectrum would be heard on the committee. He also said that high school student would gain an insight into the operation of municipal government.

"Both these people can make an important contribution to the operation of the committee," Pergolas stated.

The council agreed to contact the high school principal for his recommendation with regard to a suitable student to serve on the committee. As well the council endorsed the four year term for the four regular members of the committee and a continuation of the system whereby various areas of the municipality are represented on the committee.

Two members of municipal council are also appointed to the committee.

costs to the municipality for the hearings, however that request was rejected.

Defense lawyer Fraser Rogers said Tuesday afternoon that he had no comment to make on the outcome of the trial. He said he would be meeting with the council next week when a decision would be made on what the municipality would do in the future. He refused to speculate on whether the township would consider laying the charges again.

Vehicles collide

A two vehicle collision on the Hadlington Road in Monmouth Township has resulted in damages totalling $3800.

The mishap occurred when a pick-up driven by Peter Birzvilkis, 34, collided with a van being driven by 53 year old Donald Rowbottom. Damage to the Birzvilkis vehicle was estimated at $3000 while the other auto sustained $800 damage. Rowbottom has been charged with failing to share half the roadway.

The incident is being investiigated by Constable Al Barnes.

Strikes pole

A charge of impaired driving has been laid against a Haliburton area man after the vehicle he was driving slid off the road, struck a tree and then a telephone pole.

Charged is 19 year old David Medcalf. Damage to the car and pole was estimated at $1900. The mishap occurred early on the morning of November 28 on Highway 121 west of Haliburton Village.

Meeting rescheduled

Freezing rain and slippery road conditions combined to reduce attendance at the annual meeting of the Minden Agricultural Society and force the meeting's postponement.

The meeting was scheduled to take place November 26. However, only 10 voting members attended and the group requires that 15 members be present to form a quorum for annual meetings.

Society president Jerry Pillsworth has rescheduled the meeting for December 9 at the Anson, Hindon and Minden council chambers. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Editorial

Leaping before they look

The township council has "strongly condemned" the findings of a tourism study carried out for the province by a consulting firm. The $125,000 report was released in mid-October.

It identifies a number of potential tourism growth areas in the Peterborough - Haliburton areas. Only two points in this county, Dorset and Haliburton Village - Lake Kashagawigamog areas were identified for potential growth.

The report is important as investors have used similar documents in other parts of the province as a guide to tourism development. Indeed, areas pinpointed in such studies have experienced increased investment which could be directly attributed to the comments in such studies.

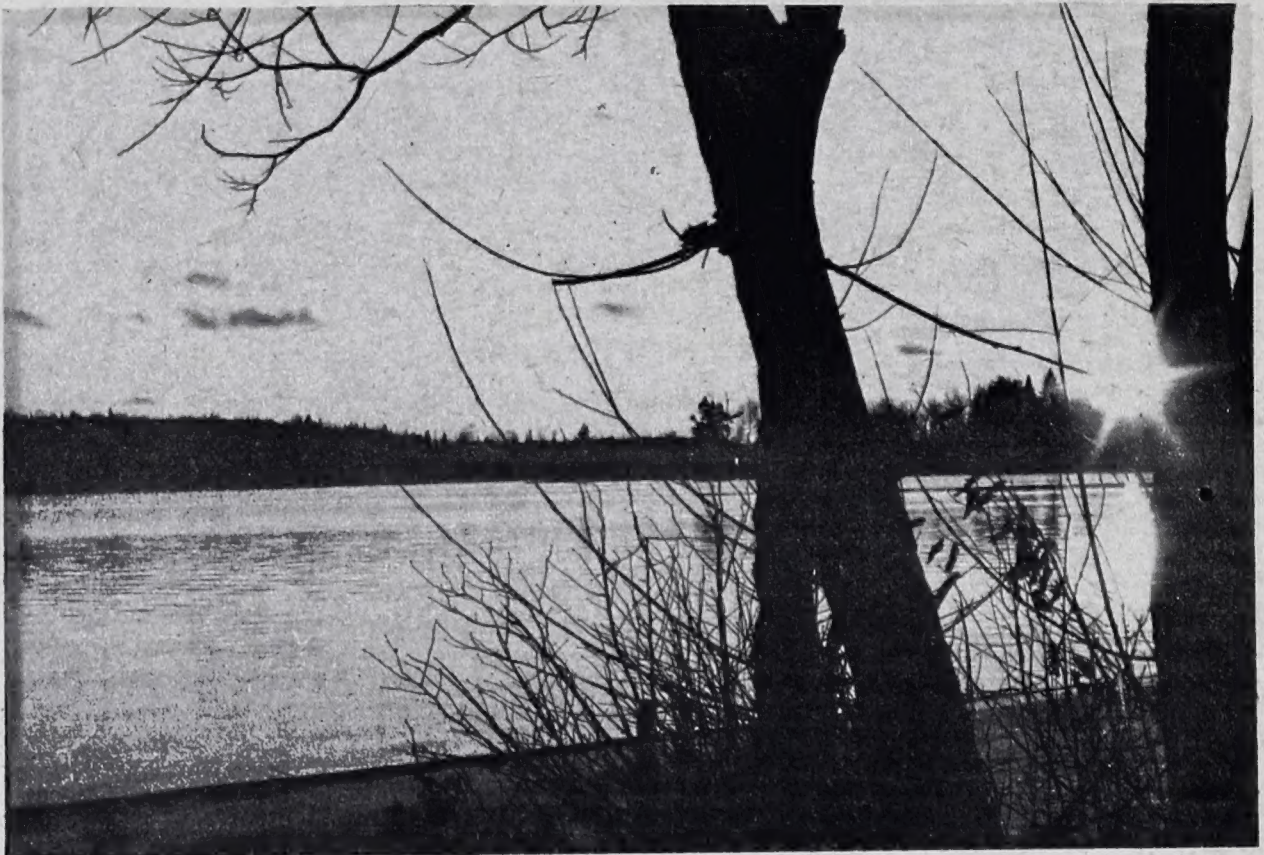

The council's resolution cites only one reason for the condemnation... "the report is contrary to the Planning Strategy for the Provisional County of Haliburton with respect to growth and development areas."

We, in general, agree that Minden has been given short shrift in the report and stated our concern in an editorial following the release of the two volume document. However, we must seriously question the sincerity and thoughtfulness which went into the council's resolution.

Moments after the resolution was enacted, the members of the council began a discussion as to who among them would be the first to borrow the copies of the report to read. It took several moments before it was decided.

How can members of council vote to "strongly condemn" a document they haven't even read? How can this resolution be considered seriously when it was obviously formulated prior to any of the members having perused, even lightly, the study in question?

While the council's position on the study is close to a stand we have taken here, we find it difficult to support their resolution knowing the circumstances which preceded its passage. If they want to be taken seriously on such matters, they should act in like manner.

Interest rates hurting farmers

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

Last month my colleague, and Agriculture Critic, Jack Riddell (M.P.P. for Huron-Middlesex), presented an excellent brief on behalf of our party to the Emergency Task Force of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

After conducting intensive hearings, they reported that farmers in this province are facing an "emergency economic situation primarily as a result of high interest rates." This message seems evident to everyone concerned about the agriculture industry except to the Ontario Minister of Agriculture. Even his deputy minister last week stated that Ontario lacks an agriculture policy and that we stand to lose a lot of our most efficient farmers in the next year if nothing is done by the province to help them. Yet the minister continually refuses to address this financial crisis.

This report confirmed that we in the Liberal Party have been advocating for some time now. In his submission to this task force, Mr. Riddell pointed out that Ontario farmers are at a disadvantage when the financial assistance provided to the agriculture industry by other provinces and other countries are examined. It is no accident that Quebec's net farm income last year increased by 12.7% while Ontario's income decreased by 29.5%.

The task force report has confirmed this situation and has recommended that the government introduce assistance programs to ensure that Ontario farmers are not disadvantaged through parochial policies of other provinces.

Immediate assistance must be given to farmers on the verge of bankruptcy. An emergency interest subsidy program for Ontario farmers' operating expenses is required. If we are to save our young, aggressive innovative and efficient farmers, we must subsidize interest rates.

While the Minister of Agriculture led us to believe that only a small number of farmers are in financial difficulty and by playing the "numbers game" states that only about 1% of our farmers are in trouble, the task force reports "the number of farmers in trouble is much greater than admitted by government and the banks".

It is a warped sense of priorities that allows the government to state there is no money to provide meaningful assistance programs to prevent the food producers of this province from going bankrupt, yet it has no trouble finding $650 million to buy a small share in an oil company, to invest in resources outside the province.

It is imperative to the economic well being of this province that the government heed the warning of this report that "the agriculture industry is not receiving the priority treatment it requires both now and for the future" and adopt its recommendations without further delay.

Editor:

I am a comparative newcomer to the Haliburton Highlands as I have only lived here for four years, although we became acquainted with this area more than twenty years ago and fell in love with it then.

So here I am, telling you Highlanders just how lucky you are to be living here as if you weren't already aware of the fact!

It was my pleasure this past week to have attended a conference in Toronto with Doris McCann and Marie Wallace, representing the Haliburton Home Support Services. The Conference focused on Senior Centers across Canada. Representatives from all provinces and some of our American friends were in attendance. We learned much from many who have been working along with seniors in large and small centers and came away with the nice feeling that although we have a long way to go, and more to do, Haliburton County offers as much and sometimes more than anywhere else in Canada.

With the help of many devoted volunteers, Haliburton County Home Support Services (office on the 2nd floor of the municipal building in Haliburton, telephone 457-2941) provide the following for seniors: meals-on-wheels; wheels-to-meals; transportation, local and long distance; friendly visiting; fone-a-friend; income tax assistance; information and referral; and vials of life distribution. Other programs for seniors in the county are: foot clinics; fitness classes; lawn bowling; pin bowling; curling; swim program; seniors clubs to name just a few.

The saying that "Beauty is only skin deep" may apply to some, but you - every one of you - make the Haliburton Highlands not only the most beautiful place in the world, but also the most wonderful place in which to live, and I'm proud to be here with all of you.

Minden

The first snows reveal much of the hidden activity in the autumn woodlands. As I followed my favourite trail through the cedars and aspens last weekend, I found that the snow-walker had been there before me. An unsteady line of three-toed tracks, each about two inches long followed my trail for a ways, and then wandered off into the shrubbery. Soon the snow-walker was revealed, as a ruffed grouse exploded into the air a few yards ahead of me.

Like most members of the chicken family, a grouse would sooner walk than fly. Its mottled brown colouring, highlighted only by a handsome ruff around the neck and distinctive black band on the tail, makes a wary grouse difficult to discover. But when a grouse decides to fly, its noisy exit not only makes its presence known, but also startles the hunter or predator sufficiently to give the edge in finding safe cover.

A grouse has no fear of winter, for it is well-fitted to cope with the snow. Scaly growths along the toes serve as tiny snowshoes, carrying the grouse easily over the powdery woodland snows. On cold winter nights, grouse make use of this fluffy layer of insulating snow by burrowing deep into a snowbank. Since in the winter, grouse feed primarily on buds and catkins, drifting snow poses

Tuning into the sky

Imagine receiving television signals at home that have travelled over 45,000 miles before they appear on your screen. Imagine having a selection of over 60 channels at your disposal with programming that varies from "R" rated movies to church services. Imagine watching first run movies anytime of the day or night.

Science fiction? Not according to two Minden area residents who have just opened a business selling backyard receiving stations which grab television signals being bounced off a satellite high over the equator.

Dick Hope and Terry McKinley sold and installed their first receiving station last month in Minden, and, according to the pair, interest is running high as people want to be on the forefront of the latest wave in communications technology.

Using satellites for communications purposes is not a new idea, of course. Companies transmitting telephone calls, data, radio and television signals have been in operation for close to a decade. However, up to this point, the expense of the hardware, both on the ground and in the air, has meant that only firms with "unlimited" financial resources, could take advantage of the new technology. That situation is changing, as Dick and Terry's company, Central Ontario Satellite Television attests.

The cost of earth receiving stations has decreased sharply and now hovers at a point where it is available to individuals or small groups. As well, the kind of programming raining down on us from the skies has evolved to the point where the average viewer would be interested in watching.

The transmission of the signals is much similar to what takes place from ground based television transmitters. The main difference is the satellites give the sender a very high point from which to beam the signal back to earth.

There are 11 such satellites in orbit now. Three are Canadian, in the Anik series, and the rest belong to U.S.A. corporations. The satellites are in a geosynchronous orbit, which means they remain in a set position over the earth as it revolves on its axis.

Each satellite has ten to fifteen channels, some of which are used by the country or company which owns the orbiter. The remainder are leased to other companies. In the case of the Canadian satellites, several of the channels are reserved for sending television and radio signals to communities in the northern reaches of the country. Others carry the House of Commons proceedings, in both French and English, while others still have commercial programming.

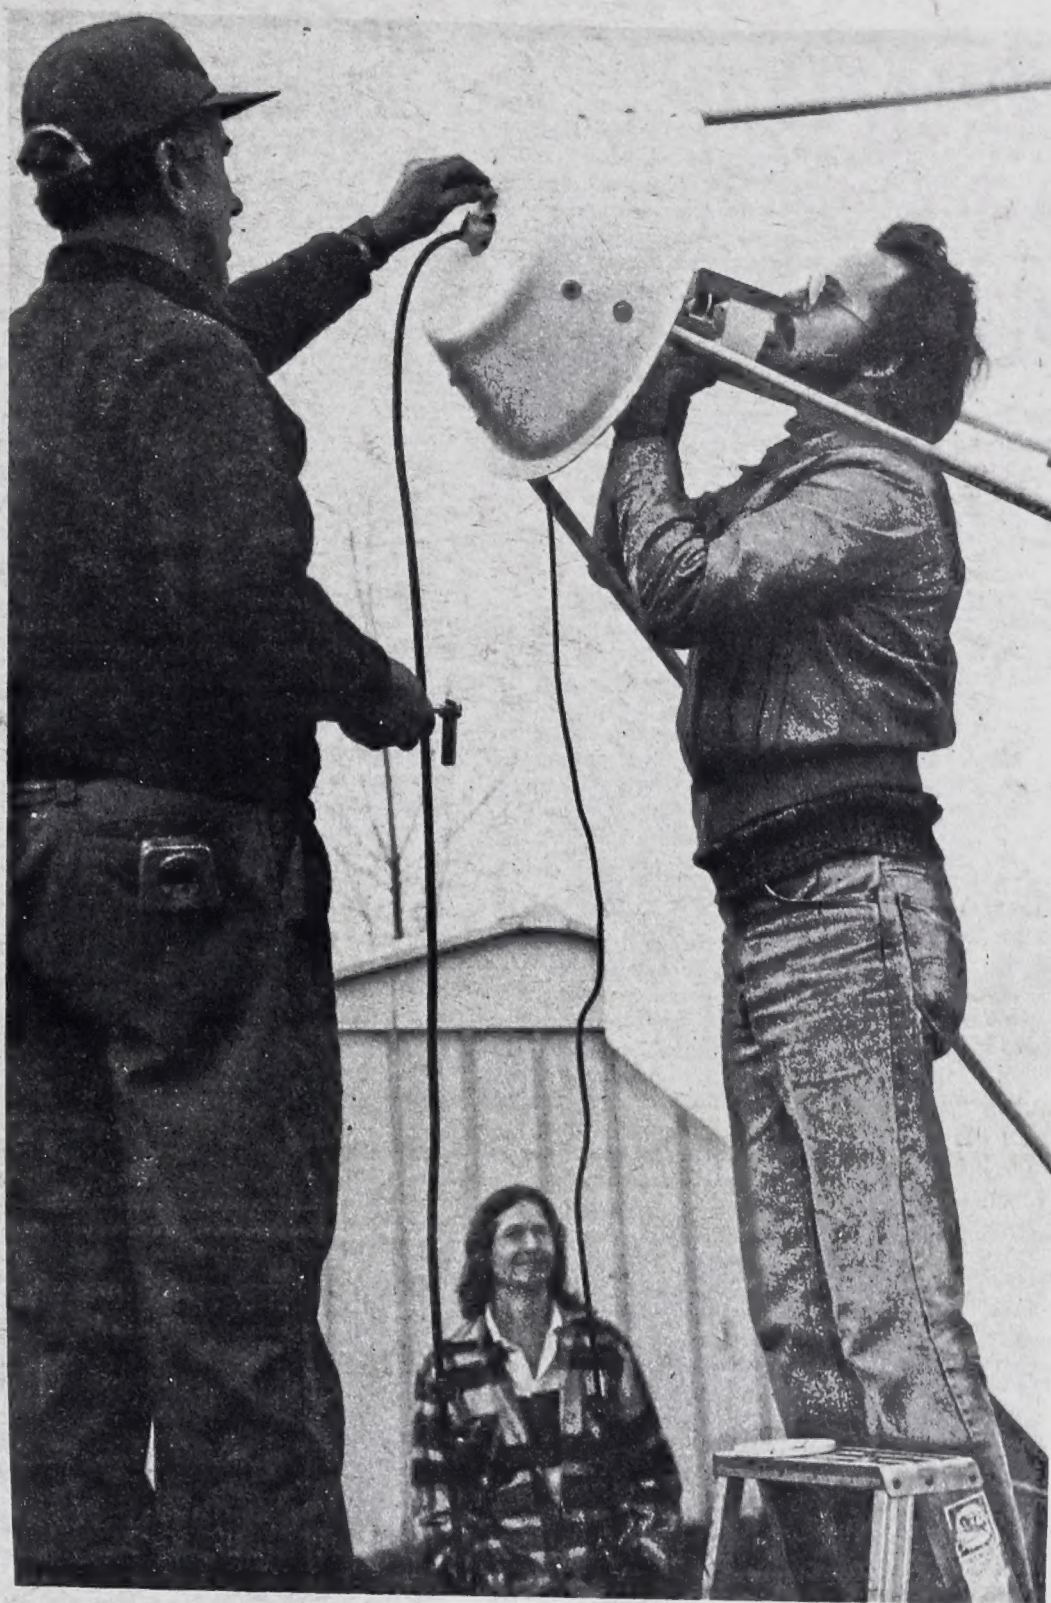

These signals have been beamed from space for a number of years, but only in the past few years has the cost of the receiving equipment been reduced to an affordable level. The home receiving unit consists of a dish approximately six feet wide which must be situated outside and facing a southerly direction, a cable to carry the signal to the television set and a receiver to interpret the signals. The receiver rests on or near the television set and is tuned, like a radio, to bring in certain channels from one satellite.

The dish must be accurately aimed to receive the signal from a satellite. The satellites remain stationary, relative to the location of the receiving dish on the ground. A slight change in the angle of the dish gives access to the signals being sent out by a different satellite.

The dish is needed to gather enough of the signal to be fed to the receiver. The parabolic shape of the dish concentrates the signal at a point above the dish where an amplifier collects the gathered message and magnifies it 100,000 times. Most dishes are made of fiberglass with a layer of aluminum foil type material sandwiched between.

Legal questions

Ever since the earth receiving stations started appearing in Canada, there has been some question as to their status with regard to Precise adjustments are needed to zero in on communications satellites over 22,000 miles out in space. Bill, left, and Terry prepare the first dish installed in Minden.

Would like to make dishes here

Earth receiving stations that provide access to signals being transmitted from satellites, appear to be the next major step in the communications industry and two Minden area men are eager to be part of that change. Dick Hope and Terry McKinley have started a business selling the stations and hope to someday be able to manufacture the dish component of the systems.

The two, operating under the company name of Central Ontario Satellite Television installed their first station in Minden last month. "Interest is growing rapidly," Dick commented last week, "people want to be part of this change."

The cost of the systems on the market range from $3500 for a do it yourself kit to $10,000 or more for one with all the options. The station they are selling retails for approximately $5500 installed.

At the moment most of the component parts are made in the U.S.A. "I would like to see an increased Canadian content in these stations," Dick suggested. To this end the two are exploring the possibility of having their own dish manufactured here and distributed nation-wide.

The dish, the most visible portion of the system, is a large parabolic antenna which "catches" the signal as it is beamed down from the satellites. Most of the present models are made of fiberglass with a special liner trapped between the layers to help collect the signal.

The two feel that this portion of the system could be manufactured here, creating an industry and jobs for the area.

To help market their system, they plan to construct a special portable unit as part of a van or truck. This will enable them to bring the entire system to someone's door for a demonstration.

Dick is no stranger to the Highlands, having had a business connection here going back to 1952. He currently operates R. Hope Welding, a business which he finds less time to devote to with the growing interest in satellite T.V. Terry McKinley, is presently living in Fenelon Falls and has been involved with the manufacture and sale of electronic equipment.

the federal government. Terry readily admits that one of the first questions people ask about the system they are selling, is its legality.

The Canadian Radio Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) have shown a great deal of interest in the dishes and have, on a number of cases attempted to restrict their use. "I feel the CRTC is more interested in people who collect the signals and attempt to sell them," Terry commented. He said there appeared to be no problem with an individual owning one.

Dick added that if a group of people wanted to share the cost of an installation, as long as the signal they received was not being sold, it would be within the law.

The question of the status of single dishes serving apartments, condominiums or a hotel complex is still unanswered. Does paying rent or for a night's lodging constitute "selling" the signal.

According to Terry a court in Newfoundland has ruled there is nothing wrong in a cable company rebroadcasting the signals it has picked up from satellites. He said the federal agency is expected to make an announcement concerning the dishes in a couple of weeks. It is certainly a situation where technology has leapt ahead of the law, and while the CRTC may attempt to place some regulations on the use of the earth receiving stations, there appears to be little they can do about their proliferation.

New access

Dick likes to describe the earth receiving stations and satellite TV as "a tap". "Satellites will provide access to programs for individuals in the rural parts of the country," he commented. "We will have access as never before as we tap into the network that previously was only available to those in the large urban areas."

He sees the system as more than just a method of providing entertainment. "Satellites can and have been used for transferring medical information to remote parts of the country, for providing classes where it would be unfeasible to send a teacher and have been used as a video library." He sees the day when people will not only receive signals at their homes, but will be able to send them as well, opening a new field of shopping by satellite, information search and communications.

At the moment though, the attraction definitely lies in the entertainment value of the system. In time, more satellites will be added to the array which now are available enlarging the choice of programming to 500 or more channels by 1985. When that time comes people might in fact spend more time reading their television guides than actually watching the programs.

For the moment, however, it appears television viewing in North America is about to undergo a major change as more people start tuning into the signals from the sky.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands
THE HIGHLANDS COUNCIL

At recent meetings of the Central Ontario Travel Association there was concern about the fact that no promotional activities had been planned to promote our winter business. As a result C.O.T.A. has now initiated a co-op program to promote "Winter Week-ends in Central Ontario" featuring a banner heading under which individual facilities may include their own message for which they will be invoiced directly by the newspaper. The advertisements will appear each Wednesday in the Toronto Sun and the Oshawa Times commencing December 16 and running to February 17.

A mailing has been directed to various members from the C.O.T.A. office with details of this opportunity and we encourage our resort members to participate. This vehicle has been provided for you through the urging of your representatives on the C.O.T.A. Board of Directors in the anticipation that you would use it to your advantage.

Winter outlook

Recently it was reported in the newspaper travel section that bookings for Florida and other southern destinations over the Christmas - New Years holiday season are down considerably this year. At the same time most local operators are reporting that they are almost, or in some cases fully booked for that period. This follows up the trend that has been developing over the last several years to look for more opportunities close to home to vacation.

This, of course, does not mean that all we must do is open the doors and our establishments will be filled, but it does mean that the potential is here. We have not been well known in the past as a winter recreation area so we must heavily promote that message. We must also see that we provide our visitors with the recreational experiences they are looking for. The bottom line then, becomes the weather. If we keep our snow this year for an entire season we are confident that we can look forward to an excellent winter in the Highlands. We hope you are all gearing up to be part of it.

Shop locally

It's time once again to remind you all of the importance of shopping locally. We tend to think of this each year at this time as we notice the exodus of Christmas shoppers heading for the larger centres. The message, however, applies to the entire year, and is one that should be permanently engraved in our minds. Each time we take a locally earned dollar outside the county to spend it we have hurt the economy.

The ultimate in contributing to our local economy is to purchase something not only sold locally but produced locally. Although we may not be blessed with many manufacturers in the county, there is no shortage of local artisans and craftsmen who create items that would make unique and imaginative gifts.

One gift suggestion that we repeat each year is the centennial edition of "In Quest of Yesterday" by Nila Reynolds that re-creates the history of the Highlands in such detail. It is available in local stores and at the Chamber for only $5.95.

Local agency not affected

Concern has been growing recently among local travellers following the closing of the Gell Travel Agency in Peterborough.

Many travellers who had booked through Highland Travel of Minden, a company associated with Gell Travel of Lindsay, were concerned that their reservation and travel arrangements were lost.

Gary Clark, the operator of Highland Travel has indicated however, that his company is not associated with the Peterborough firm which recently closed. "The two companies were once jointly owned," Clark commented last week, "but Gell Travel, Lindsay and Gell Travel, Peterborough are two separate companies and have been for over ten years."

The owner said the closure of the Peterborough agency in no way affects the travel arrangements which have been placed with his company in Lindsay or through Highland Travel in Minden.

Clark noted that many people assumed the companies were related since the names were similar, but he emphasized that such was not the case.

The operator of Highland Travel also announced last week that the Minden office would be open Wednesday and Thursday of each week starting January 6. The two day opening will continue through the winter season.

no problems to their tree-top feeding grounds.

At this time of year, grouse are still seeking the last of the berries and fruits. Frozen apples are a favourite, as are wild grapes, hawthorn apples, and highbush cranberries. Earlier in the summer, when the young broods are seeking rich stores of energy for rapid growth, insect life makes up the bulk of the diet. By mid-winter, buds of the trembling aspen become the staple grouse food. Ruffed grouse are even sexist in their diets, preferring the larger, pollen-bearing flower buds of the male aspen trees above their female counterparts!

1981 has not been an especially good year for Ontario's ruffed grouse, since wet spring weather weakened many of the young broods. Aside from these weather-related population swings, there is also a regular ten-year cycle of abundance and scarcity in ruffed grouse. Despite considerable research, the cause of these ups and downs still remains one of the unresolved mysteries of nature.

Service of speech pathologist secured

by Susan Clements

The need for a speech pathologist is, and has been, of paramount importance to various sectors in Haliburton County.

A speech pathologist is concerned with language development and has expertise in areas such as diagnostic testing, delayed language, development due to mental retardation, articulation, stuttering and hearing problems.

The need for a speech pathologist was recognized approximately a year ago by Haliburton County Social Planning Council (HCSPC), when it conducted a survey of eighty-five service providers, volunteers, and consumers. The council also recognized that Haliburton County could not afford the services of a full time professional. Consequently, the council assembled three organizations requiring this service.

The catchment area for the service was expanded to include Haliburton and Victoria Counties. The three organizations were: Haliburton County Board of Education, Home Care Programme of Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Public Health Unit, and Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded. The former two organizations had attempted unsuccessfully and independently in the past to employ a speech pathologist. It was apparent that a co-operative approach was needed.

In October, 1980, the three prospective partners met for the first time to discuss joint funding. At that time, Association for the Mentally Retarded did not have funds to contribute to the venture. They indicated that it would work through the Tri-County Local Working Group, an organization which plans and co-ordinates services for the mentally retarded in the three counties, to request funds from the Ministry of Community and Social Services. In addition, the three partners discussed issues of sponsorship, client population, monitoring and evaluation, and staff support.

The Home Care Programme indicated that they had full funding, and would hire the pathologist if the remaining partners would agree to purchase the service from them. The new partnership consisted of: the Board of Education, Home Care, and Ross Memorial Hospital. The other groups would purchase service from board if the former secured provincial funding.

By July, 1981, the speech pathologist, Stephen McEvoy was hired. His office is located in Lindsay at the Public Health Unit. Stephen will be working in Haliburton County for the board forty days per year. Stephen will work closely with Linda Easton, the speech correctionist, who is also employed by the board. To minimize the cost and vast amount of time spent travelling, Stephen will work and live in the county for extended periods.

Unfortunately, the needs of all Haliburton clients cannot be met by one professional. Once Stephen assumed his duties, it became clear that he would not have sufficient time to provide service to the H.D.A.M.R. In the meantime, H.D.A.M.R. had secured funding from the Ministry of Community and Social Services through Arc Industries' enrichment request. Tri-County Local Working Group is investigating alternatives to meet the speech needs of mentally retarded clients in Haliburton County.

There will always be problems associated with projects involving more than one funding source. However, in sparsely populated rural areas with limited financial resources, specialized services such as speech pathology can be provided more easily through cooperative efforts. Hopefully, the example of the speech pathologist will inspire more joint ventures in Haliburton County. It is one way of ensuring a community focus for development of service in the county.

The matter was investigated by Constable Brian Dunham.

Birders wanted to help compile atlas

Ontario is now part of a world-wide scheme to map bird distribution. By 1987 we will have a complete, up-to-date, picture of the breeding range of each of the approximately 275 species of birds which breed in the province. The final product will be the result of the work of volunteer birders who participate in the Ontario Breeding Bird Atlas.

The technique used in Ontario was borrowed from the British and the other 50 countries and states which are presently working on similar projects. For Atlas purposes the province is divided into 10 kilometer squares using a grid system found on topographic maps. Birders choose a square and visit it over the breeding season (March - August) hopefully accumulating the minimum 16 hours needed to cover a square adequately.

While in the square, atlasers record breeding evidence, such as defence of a territory or newly fledged young, for every species observed, on an Atlas data card. This can be quite challenging, as up to 128 species have been found in one square.

At the end of the summer the results go in to one of 41 Regional Coordinators spread across the province, who check and duplicate the data cards before sending them in to the central office. The information is then stored in a computer which will eventually produce the distribution maps.

The Atlas is being sponsored by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists and the Long Point Bird Observatory, and is supported by the Canadian Wildlife Service, the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, the Ontario Ministry of the Environment, Parks Canada and the World Wildlife Fund.

Field work began in 1981 and will continue through 1985. 1986 will be devoted to producing the maps, and printing the Atlas which will be useful to a variety of groups, including birders, biologists, planners and conservationists.

Roughly 500 atlasers took to the field in 1981 and enjoyed the challenge, the fresh air, and the knowledge that they are contributing to a useful project. If you have some birding experience and would like to participate, contact the Atlas office at the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 355 Lesmill Rd., Don Mills, Ontario. M3B 2W8, 416-444-8419.

Here is a brief review of Kinsmen Club history in Canada.

The Association of Kinsmen Clubs was founded in Hamilton, Ontario on February 20, 1920, by Hal. A. Rogers. From a meagre beginning, with just a few members, the association has grown to a membership of over 16,500 young men in 624 clubs across Canada. It is the only all-Canadian service club.

Members range in age from 21 to 40, with privilege memberships being granted for those who wish to belong after reaching the age of 40.

Since its inception, the Association of Kinsmen Clubs has donated $48,800,000 towards service work in Canada.

The Minden Kinsmen Club is part of District Eight. One of our main projects in this area is raising funds for cystic fibrosis research. Last year the fund raising efforts passed the quarter million dollar mark.

The association has set a target of a half million dollars to be raised for Ronald MacDonald House, located near the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The home provides accommodation and services for parents with children who are terminally ill with cancer.

The Minden club has 22 active members and new members are always welcome.

In the past year the club has helped in a number of areas in the community, including:

- a $264 donation for Career Week activities at the Haliburton Highlands High School.

- a $200 donation to the Minden Fitness and Self Defence Club for the purchase of exercise mats.

- a $50 donation to the Minden Children's Play School.

- as well as a number of donations to local families in need.

The club has plans for the construction of a participapark (exercise trail), adjacent to the Minden arena.

The club executive for this year includes: president Brian Hamilton; vice president Don Cubbridge; secretary Bill Kulas; treasurer Larry McKnight; registrar Doug Ripley; bulletin editor John Pentney; and past president, Rob Young.

We are also fortunate to have one of our members, Larry Amyotte, serving this year as the Deputy District Governor for District Eight.

(More next month).

Council backs nuclear expansion

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has endorsed a resolution calling on Ontario Hydro to expand its use of nuclear energy to provide electricity for the province and for export. The endorsement came at the November 25 meeting of the council and was objected to by two members of the council.

The matter, circulated by the Township of Greenock to all municipalities in the province, was approved by the local council with councillors Ed Pergolas and Lyle McKnight voting against the proposal.

There was little discussion as the matter was tabled and voted upon. Councillor Ed Pergolas commented that he did not believe in nuclear power, "I think its too dangerous," he commented. He noted that Quebec was having problems selling the excess power it was producing, so he saw little need for Ontario to expand its facilities.

Being part of a little theatre production means more than just acting. Most of the members of the cast and crew of the Highlands Little Theatre's latest production were on stage Sunday to prepare the set. Marilyn Mighton and Heather Scully watch as Miriam Lewis secures wallpaper to a stage flat.

Parking problems considered

Representatives from the Recreation Committee and the Minden Curling Club are to meet at the community centre soon to try to iron out problems surrounding the parking of vehicles in the upper lot. The matter came up for discussion at the November 25 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden township council.

The parking problems are most acute when functions are taking place at both buildings, as they did this weekend. The curling club was holding a three day bonspiel. Saturday evening was the dance and party. At the same time, the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association was holding a fund-raising dance in the community centre.

With the number of cars in the upper level, the parking lot was a snarled mess, according to one person in attendance.

The joint committee hopes to establish a system for parking which would leave enough room for all vehicles being driven to either facility. An effort will be made to enable curlers to park close to their building while those attending the community centre will be located close to that facility.

Signs designating the parking areas are expected to be in place before the snow comes.

The curling club has also requested that the area in front of the ramp leading into the building be kept clear to allow parking space for paraplegics. The area would also provide access for the ambulance or other emergency vehicles.

The two groups are also expected to consider how much each will pay for the snow plowing of the parking area.

Council condemns tourism study

The Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has passed a resolution condemning a study into tourism potential recently released by the provincial government. The study, which covered the Kawartha and Haliburton Highlands, virtually ignored the Minden area, describing it as a "hinterland" to other tourism development points.

The council's reaction to the study came at the November 25 meeting. One of the concerns expressed in the resolution on the study was that its findings were contrary to those set out in the Haliburton County Development Strategy for growth and development in the county.

The study, commissioned by the province and carried out by a Toronto consulting firm, identified two locations for tourist development in the county. These are the Dorset area and the Haliburton Village-Lake Kashagawiganog area.

Nepean rink captures opening bonspiel at new rink

A rink from Nepean has won the 1981 Minden Winter Carnival Bonspiel. The event was held this past weekend at the new curling club and was the first major bonspiel in the new facility.

(The bonspiel's connection to the winter carnival, which isn't held until January, is related to the fact that the community was without a curling rink during last year's carnival. However, far-sighted curling club officials had purchased prizes for the event and some of these carried the '1981' notation. Rather than see the prizes go to waste, it was decided to use the prizes for this season's opener. As well, many of those who were unable to attend the carnival 'spiel last year, were invited to take part in the three day event.)

The winning rink in the bonspiel was one such foursome. Jack Riddell, his wife Gwen and their partners Ron and Sheila Heaney, had been part of previous carnival bonspiels. The Riddell's own a cottage in the area. The rink was skipped by Ron Heaney. Their names will be engraved on the Dixie Lee trophy.

They defeated the Haliburton entry of Ron and Jean Colliver and Bob and Linda Deremo. Third place was taken by a Bridgenorth rink which included Gord and Carol Dawson and Lynn and Larry Watson.

Fourth place was taken by the Dale Austin rink of Minden which included Clayt Hummel and his wife Joan and Doug Colbourne. Fifth spot went to Ron Barr of the Haliburton club. Team members included Dale Walker, Gary Bailey and Sheila Elston.

The consolation prize, awarded to the rink with only one way to go, was presented to Richard and Heather Yake, Judy Jackson and "Newf".

Drawmaster J.O. Jackson reported that 22 rinks took part in the three day event.

Huskies play in Minden this Sunday afternoon

The Haliburton Huskies bring the action of Junior C hockey to Minden this Sunday as they take on Penetang. The game is one of two slated for this community this season as a result of schedule conflicts at the Haliburton facility.

The change in venue will give more Minden fans an opportunity to see a number of local players who have contributed a great deal to the team's success this season. (We are told, that when the games are played in Haliburton, the Huskies draw a good contingent of supporters from the Minden area).

Those attending the Sunday game will have an opportunity to see Ron Yake, who holds down seventh place in the league's scoring race. In 14 games he has scored 15 goals and assisted on 18 others for a total of 33 points. He is the only member of the Huskies rated in the league's top ten scorers.

Other Minden area players featured on the Huskies roster include Colin Newell, who plays goal for the team, Tim Davies, Shaun Chapman, Scott Arbuthnot, Cory Walker and Kevin Shapiera.

The game gets underway at 4:30 Sunday afternoon.

In this week's action, the Huskies split a pair, taking it on the nose against Huntsville with a 9-1 loss and doubling on Oro Sunday 8-4.

The Friday game saw the Huntsville team establish an early lead notching two in the first frame and three in the second. It was in the middle period that Haliburton got its only goals coming off the stick of Scott Arbuthnot with assist going to Tim Davies.

The Huntsville team dominated the third period scoring four goals to clinch the contest.

The situation was reversed Sunday when the Huskies dominated the play, taking advantage of scoring chances and keeping the visitors locked in their end of the ice. The Huskies scored five goals in the opening period, outgunning the Oro team 28 to 2.

Scoring for Haliburton were Darren MacInnes with a pair, and a single each from Shaun Chapman, Kevin Shapiera and Tim Davies.

The Huskies went short-handed for the major part of the second period as the game became a little chippier. The man advantage gave the visitors an opportunity to knock home two goals. However, Ron Abbs managed to help maintain the Huskies lead by scoring on a pass from Ron Yake.

Oro picked up two more goals in the final stanza as did the Huskies. Tim Davies scored both of the Haliburton markers.

This Friday the Huskies travel to Gravenhurst for a game and then back to Minden for the Sunday contest again Penetang.

Extra holiday skating planned

The Minden Recreation Committee has planned special activities for children this coming Christmas break.

While the schedule is not yet firm, the committee has agreed to provide four afternoons of public skating for the students who find they need something extra to do during the holiday period. The skating will be held each afternoon with a reduced admission of 75¢ per skater to a maximum pf $2.50 per family.

Exact dates of the special public skating sessions are expected to be announced later.

St. James, of Peterborough claimed the Larry Reynolds Memorial Trophy Saturday as they defeated Fenelon Falls 9-0 in the Minden Atom Tournament. The eight team event was held Saturday at the Minden arena.

The Minden squad advanced to the consolation championship, but were defeated by Ops 6-3 in a hard fought contest.

Minden lost its opening game against Fenelon Falls by a wide 7-1 margin. Joey Boyle scored the only marker for Minden on an unassisted effort. In the second game, Minden and Haliburton played to a 2-2 tie. However, Minden scored the first goal and was therefore credited with the win. Joey Boyle scored one of Minden's goals, again unassisted. The second marker for Minden was scored by Robbie Ackerblade with assists from Jay Hughes and Boyle.

In the consolation championship, Ops cornered an impressive three goal lead and it wasn't until the 1:20 mark of the opening period that Tom Heppleston scored, unassisted. Joey Boyle and Mike Hughes tallied during the second period to even the score. Mike Hughes was also credited with an assist on the first goal, while Heppleston assisted on the second marker.

Ops repeated their first period effort, scoring three goals in the final frame to overtake the Minden team and claim the Sid Stamp Fuels consolation trophy.

objective of supporting Snowdon Community oriented projects and organizations, the members in attendance at this meeting decided to send a cheque in the amount of $50.00 to each of the following:

-St. John's Anglican Church, Irondale.

-Lochlin United Church, Lochlin.

-Lochlin Community Hall, Lochlin.

-Gelert Community Centre, Gelert.

-Snowdon Combines, Men's Baseball team.

-Snowdon Stompers, Ladies Baseball team.

-Andy's Angels, Ladies Baseball team.

-Little Rascals, Junior Baseball team.

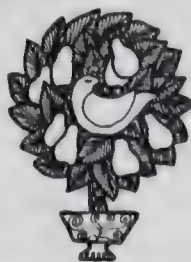

Although this is not a large sum, we trust this will provide some help to these groups in meeting their expenses.

For those interested, all memberships will be renewed at our next meeting.

Tentative dates of either January 10 or January 17 has been set for the official opening of our ski trails. Information will be available at the next meeting regarding clearing a road to the park area and the possible preparation of a skating rink area.

The next meeting will be December 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis in Gelert. Their home is on West Line Road off old highway 519.

Take care with pesticides

Everyone wants to get the most for every dollar spent on any commodity and that includes pesticides. Whether you are stocking up for next year at this year's prices, or saving leftovers, make sure you store these materials properly.

The first rule in storing pesticides is to store all pesticides in their original containers.

There's more to keeping the pesticides in original containers than the possibility that you'll forget what's in the container. The container label provides information about rates and methods of pesticide application. Storing pesticides in food or beverage containers may confuse an unwary child.

The Farm Safety Association recommends that you store all chemicals, including pesticides, in a separate building that can be marked and locked. If this is not possible, store these materials in a marked cabinet or room that can be locked to prevent any chance of contact with animals or people.

And the barn is a poor place to keep any pesticides or chemicals.

Before storing any pesticide, check the shelf date to make sure you aren't saving something that will be worthless next spring.

Check the label or call your supplier for any special storage instructions for keeping each pesticide over winter.

Liquid pesticides, in most cases, should be stored someplace where they won't freeze. When storing wettable powders, make sure the storage area is dry. Store each container so that there is no possibility of one pesticide contaminating another.

Where are your pesticides? Be sure they are stored properly for the winter.

Council backs speed by-law

An effort to reduce the speed of boats on the Gull River received further backing last Wednesday as members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden council

Causeway causes concerns

Property owners on Bob Lake have requested that the township council keep them informed of any plans to construct a causeway to one of the small islands on the lake.

The request was read at the November 25 meeting of the council. It came in the form of a letter signed by 21 property owners on the lake.

The council is considering an application from Louis Alvarez to construct a causeway or install a culvert to reach an island in the lake. The island is apparently close to shore and was once linked to the mainland prior to the installation of a water control dam. The proposed causeway would be built on municipal road allowance.

The letter from the property owners objected to any causeway because of the aesthetics of the construction and the increased development it would mean for the island.

Council has notified the property owners and the applicant that the matter will be considered at the next meeting of the council, December 9.

voted to endorse a by-law passed by Lutterworth Township Council.

The backing was required to lend support to Lutterworth's efforts to have speed restrictions placed on the river and ban water skiing in all river areas.

Since the river flows through the two townships,

Lutterworth council has taken the initiative while the other council has lent its official support.

The backing of the Anson, Hindon and Minden council was not in question, as earlier it had expressed its concurrence with a petition circulated among riverfront property owners seeking a speed limit on the waterway. The request stressed the hazard created by speeding boats and the damage to the shoreline caused by the wakes these boats create.

The Lutterworth by-law, which will require federal approval before it can be enforced, is not expected to become law until the summer season of 1983.

Centre committee appointed

Minden Cultural Centre co-ordinating committee has been created to oversee the operation of the new facility on Bobcaygeon Road north. The committee was approved at the November 25 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

Members of the committee include: Shirley McGee, Mae Wolfram, Aileen Blears, Wendy Wilkins, Bob Herlihey, Isobel Harrison, Donna Monk, Agnes Jamieson, Mary Cox, Beatrice Taylor, May Spence and Reeve Lloyd Walker.

Whip up some artificial snow for tree boughs or other places...combine two tablespoons of soap flakes with half cup of cool water in a large bowl. Beat with rotary beater until suds stand in stiff peaks. Slowly beat in one third cup of instant laundry starch. Apply with fingers, or a paint brush, and before mixture dries completely, press in ornaments or birds or sparkles.

The community sends good wishes to these people who may be in hospital, Mrs. Tom Cox, Mrs. Nell Anderson, Arnold Gartshore, Ed Fielding, Herb Hancock, and Elsa Seuret. Also to Bea and Frank Waters, 54 Newmarket Ave., Toronto, who may soon both have by-pass surgery.

The idea of Christmas Seals for T.B. began in 1904 in Denmark by a postman, and came to U.S.A. in 1907 and later to Canada. Now, this disease is not such a serious threat, the money gathered continues for T.B. cases and also for Canadian Thoracic Society (dealing with chest medicine) and lung disease. The new name for this group was changed in 1968 to Canadian Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. Have you sent in your donation yet?

The Minden Library is presenting a free film show on December 19 from 2 - 3 for children, so let's have a good crowd come out to this, as they may be planned for a Hi! Here we are into December already. The years just seem to fly by as we get older. The youngsters are getting more rambunctious, now that Christmas is creeping closer. How's the shopping coming? Thank goodness mine's about finished.

Thought football was over, but no such luck, we're getting the American games now, and all those Bowl games coming up - Can't win.

Mrs. Yvonne Guida has just returned from a wonderful ten day visit, with her son Doctor James Guida and family in St. Louis, Missouri.

Don't forget the Minden Agriculture Society meeting on Wednesday, December ninth. It was postponed from last Thursday, November 26.

Ernie Wright returned last week after a very nice trip out to British Columbia to visit his daughter.

Guess what. Had another granddaughter arrive last Friday. Her name is April Lynne. We are pleased as punch and can't wait to see her.

We are so glad to hear that Mrs. Seuret is out of hospital and feeling some better.

Bill and Jean Porter with sons Steve and Eddy, from Oshawa, were up visiting with Lil Porter over the weekend. Mrs. Porter gave her son Bill a surprise celebration, which was enjoyed by all.

monthly showing, if requested.

The Minden Agricultural Society meeting was postponed as there was no quorum present, and watch for "ads" for the next one.

I have informed the editor of The Times that this will be my last month as writer for this column. He, in turn, has requested that I ask if any readers are interested in taking over the Around The Town corner. Anyone interested in writing the column on a weekly basis should contact Jack Brezina at The Times office or call me if you'd like a rundown of what preparing the column involves.

Clear and cold today but they are calling for freezing rain. It's that time, so leave a bit earlier. Cheerio until next time.

Hint of the Week
Creme rinse your sweaters. For best results when hand washing sweaters, put a capful of creme hair rinse in the final water or, rinse wool garment in lukewarm water and add a few tablespoons of glycerine. This will keep them soft and will also help prevent itching when they are worn.

Most women don't mind Yule shopping they just charge it right ahead.

Kids Korner
Here is a recipe for play dough to make some Christmas decorations.
1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 tsp. alum. Mix 1/8 cup water and food coloring (few drops colouring) with 2 tbsp. vegetable oil. Then mix wet and dry ingredients. Knead for twenty minutes. Store in a sealed container until ready for use. Or put in small bottles and give to friends for presents.

When it is cold outside, what country are you in?

Is it possible for a man to have four hands?

Yes, when he has doubled fists

How many balls of string would it take to reach the moon?

One if it was long enough

What is the ending of everything?

Which is heavier, a half moon or a full moon?

Bye for now. Take it easy. Till next time. God Bless.

Reverend John Burgess held the service here. He took his text from the 9th chapter of Luke, verse 20. "Whom say ye that I am?" A very lovely service.

The ladies still keep busy, bless their little hearts and Ted Carr keeps busy making flower carts.

Monday night we watched three movies - "Forests Forever", "We are the World", and "Wild Life in the Arctic".

Tuesday morning the Rev. Trevor Denny of the Anglican Church, Haliburton held a real interesting service here. He took his text from the eighth chapter of Romans. He also sang a solo for us.

Tuesday night is music night here at Hyland Crest. Payne, Deacon and Crowe came and were our welcome guests. They sure have something to crow about since they took on this fellow Crowe. He sang three nice songs for us. They put on a real good show.

We had a party Wednesday night. The residents entertained the staff, of course I went along and took my better half. Doris acted as M.C. I thought that she was grand until she started asking and the things she did demand! First she wanted a man's shoe. Then a ladies garter. You have no idea the things we had to barter.

I began to worry for maybe just per chance she might demand that I take off my pants. Some came all dressed up, others came in jeans. Mrs. Avery won the glass jar of beans. Congratulations. They held some interesting contests, had a lot of fun, back and forwards they did go and surely had to run. Some danced the square dance, some danced in the round, when Mark Schell was in the air his feet were never on the ground.

A finer lot of dancers you never set your eyes upon. Those that dance at all were dancing with their slippers on. They also played musical chairs which was a lot of fun. Some ones who missed a chair and landed on their - floor.

It was a lovely party and a real success and is held every year here at Hyland Crest.

I would like to say a word or two about our Mrs. Walker, she surely is a great worker. I don't know just who taught her. She surely knows how to stitch and sew and keep our clothes fixed right. She just sits and works all day and doesn't fuss or stew, if she ever left us, don't know what we'd do.

Thursday the ladies from the Minden Gospel Church brought in the lunch. I would like you to remember they also brought a lovely birthday cake for those who had birthdays in November. We would like to thank all the ladies groups who bring our lunch each week. It's not that we don't get enough to eat and are getting kinda weak. For we get real good meals here at Hyland Crest, for I think most of the time we are served the best. But it's nice to have the ladies come and sing and play for us and they really do it without a bit of fuss.

Friday afternoon is sing song time here at Hyland Crest. Fred Ballard and Mrs. Coburn came and were our welcome guests.

My friends, my friends are little lamps to me their radiance warms and cheers my ways, and all the pathways dark and lone are brightened by their rays.

Until next week.
